How do we use cookies?

See EOCA's cookie policy on our website at <https://www.eocaconservation.org/cookie-policy-uk/>

Do we disclose any information to outside parties?

EOCA does not sell, trade or otherwise transfer to outside parties any personally identifiable information.

This does not include trusted third parties or subcontractors who assist us in operating our website. Such individuals may have access to personally identifiable information on a need-to-know basis and will be contractually obliged to keep your information confidential.

We may also release your information when we believe release is appropriate to comply with the law, enforce our site policies, or protect our or others' rights, property, or safety.

Where do we store the information?

No stored data will be transferred, backed up and/or recovered by EOCA outside of the United Kingdom.

All data are stored in databases hosted and maintained by Designworks.

Newsletter sign-up / Contact us

1. What information will EOCA collect from me, what is it used for, and how is it obtained?

In order to sign up for the EOCA newsletter, you will be asked to submit your name and email address. By doing so, you consent to us storing your name and email address and to us sending you a newsletter to that address. We will not use your name or email address for any other purpose.

We ask for your email address if you send a comment or question to EOCA via the website. In this instance, your address will only be used by us to answer your query or address your comment.

2. Will you ever share or sell my information?

We will not sell, lend or share your information with third party organisations. If you opt in to receive the EOCA newsletter, your email address will be transferred into a database held by the platform which activates our newsletter. The company supplying the template for the newsletter has a privacy policy which we can supply to you on request.

3. How secure is the information which I give to you?

EOCA takes the care of your data seriously and undertakes to protect your personal information in a number of ways. Your email address will be stored in a database with encrypted passwords. The data which we store is protected by a secure login process. Further details are available on request.

4. How long will you keep my information for?

If you opt in to receive the EOCA newsletter, your name and email address will be kept in a database and you will receive the newsletters from us. You can opt out of the newsletter mailing list at any time (see point 5).

5. What if I want to stop receiving EOCA newsletters?

You can unsubscribe from the newsletters at any time via an unsubscribe button on the newsletter, or by emailing info@eocaconservation.org with the title "Unsubscribe from newsletter".

6. How can I check, amend or request the deletion of the information you hold about me?

The only information we will ever hold about you is your name and email address. You may contact us to request details of this, to correct inaccuracies you find in the data, or if you wish to unsubscribe, at any point in time. This can be done via email: info@eocaconservation.org

EOCA Public Project Voting

1. What information will EOCA collect from me, what is it used for, and how is it obtained?

During the public project vote held on the EOCA website, we will collect some information from you and your computer or other electronic device you use to cast your vote. This is to help us run a fair vote in line with our Terms and Conditions. We collect and store information including, your email address, your computer IP address, the type of browser you are using, the operating system you are using, and the time your vote was cast. All data will be deleted once the voting is closed, votes have been counted and verified, and the winners of the project vote announced. (The deleting of information will not apply to EOCA member emails used to access the members only area of this website).

By registering and placing your vote(s), you agree to the Terms and Conditions and give EOCA permission to collect this information from you and your computer. This information will be used by us only to ensure the fair process of this vote.

If you choose to subscribe to receive the EOCA newsletter, we will require you to submit your name and email address. If you subscribe using the same email address with which you have voted, you will only receive the newsletter from us at this address. By subscribing to the newsletter, you consent to us storing your name and email address and using it to send you EOCA newsletters.

2. Will you ever share or sell my information?

We will not sell, lend or share your information with third party organisations. If you opt in to receive the EOCA newsletter, your name and email address will be transferred into a database held by the platform which activates our newsletter. The company supplying the template for the newsletter has a privacy policy which we can supply to you on request.

3. How secure is the information which I give to you?

EOCA takes the care of your data seriously and undertakes to protect your personal information in a number of different ways. Your email address will be stored in a database with your password which will be encrypted. The data which we store is protected by a secure login process. Further details are available on request.

EOCA Public Project Voting

4. How long will you keep my information for?

Information gathered for the purpose of ensuring a fair voting process will be kept until the votes have been counted and verified and the winning projects announced. The information will then be deleted. If you choose to subscribe to EOCA's newsletter, using the same email with which you have voted, this is all you will receive from us. Your name and email address will be kept in a newsletter specific database and you can opt out of the newsletter mailing list at any time (see point 5 and 6 above on page 3).

5. How can I check, amend or request the deletion of the information you hold about me?

You may contact us to request details of the information gathered during the vote via email at info@eocaconservation.org. All data will be deleted once the voting is closed, votes have been counted and verified, and the winners of the project vote announced.

If you choose to participate in our project voting, which requires you to register before your vote can be made, our Public Voting Terms & Conditions can be found on our website eocaconservation.org
